

OVER 1600 CAME UP TO THE CASTLE FOR SUNDAY'S 3rd ANNUAL FALL FOLIAGE FESTIVAL

The autumnal air didn't deter visitors from family fun, foliage and food at the Fall Foliage Festival on Sunday. Down on the big Meadow, kids petted barnyard animals and oxen and enjoyed the bounce house, face and pumpkin painting and wagon rides. One of big tents featured the Lakes Region Big Band, 18 members strong, whose renditions of Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller and Tommy Dorsey could be heard across the field from the barn up to the main parking lot. And there was food available down on the Meadow and up at the Carriage House Cafe and Patio, where visitors viewed craft and painting demonstrations and caught trolleys for rides through the property and up to see the Castle and the views of mountain foliage.

Castle in the Clouds, where foliage is not expected to peak until this coming weekend, is open every day through October 18th.

Castle board member Lyn Seley makes change for Fall Foliage Festival guests at the food tent on the Meadow during the Fall Foliage Festival Oct 5th. (photo by Jay Philbrick)

The early morning sun highlights the foliage and the early visitors to the Meadow filled with Tents at the Fall Foliage Festival Oct. 5th. (photo by Jay Philbrick)

Woodcarver Brian Stockman talks to visitors in front of the Castle's Carriage House during the Fall Foliage Festival, Oct 5th. (photo by Jay Philbrick)